What does BINGO 101 give you at sign-up?

The BINGO 101 card records 4.6 stars with 356K+ installs, and it is filed under Teen Patti & Table Games. The install file runs to 36 MB, the build carries the v4.3.2 tag, and the refresh stamp reads Nov 2025. On the money side, the listing draws a clear line between two figures. New players are credited Rs.51 at sign-up, and that figure appears only in the welcome context; the card carries no deposit-match wording. The withdrawal side is separate, with a ₹100 payout floor. The two numbers do not align, so the Rs.51 credit stops well short of the floor on its own, and the room's conversion rules decide how far it carries.

Payments on the card are limited to UPI and Bank transfer; no other rails are named, and the listing never mentions cards or wallets. Both named options are standard domestic routes, which keeps money movement easy to follow. The entry age is 18+, a gate the listing applies without exception. The 4.6 rating is the average the card currently carries; it is not a promise about any single session, and scores shift as fresh reviews arrive. The Nov 2025 stamp is the last recorded maintenance point, and v4.3.2 is the build the download link points to. Players under the age gate are turned away before anything else happens.

For a reader working through the card before downloading, the practical summary is short: a Rs.51 join credit awaits new players, a ₹100 payout floor governs cash-outs, UPI and Bank transfer are the only named payment options, the file weighs 36 MB, and the age floor is 18+. Every figure above appears exactly as published, with nothing softened or embellished. This write-up mirrors the listing as it stands and makes no promises beyond it. Blog , Privacy , Terms

Yes. The BINGO 101 entry names UPI and Bank transfer as its two payment methods, and no other options appear on the page. If you rely on a different instrument, check the app's payment screen after installation—the directory only reproduces the methods the listing records. The same page lists the 36 MB v4.3.2 build and the Rs.51 welcome credit as separate details.

The BINGO 101 listing records ₹100 as its withdrawal floor, meaning the smallest cash-out request shown on the page is ₹100. This figure belongs to the payout side of the app and should not be confused with the Rs.51 join offer, which is the welcome promotion for new registrations. Confirm the current payout policy at the operator's destination before requesting a withdrawal, since listed amounts can change.

Per the listing, BINGO 101 ships as a 36 MB APK at version v4.3.2, with the refresh date given as Nov 2025. The page links a direct Android APK, so installation is a sideload rather than a store download. The entry also records a 4.6 rating and 356K+ installs, plus an 18+ age limit.

The 356K+ figure on the BINGO 101 listing is the install count recorded for the app, which the directory shows as 356K+. It appears beside a 4.6 rating and a Rs.51 join offer. Install counts are cumulative indicators captured at listing time, not a promise about current performance or availability. For live data, check the app or its store presence directly.

On the BINGO 101 page, Rs.51 is the join offer—the welcome amount given to new registrations—while ₹100 is the withdrawal floor. The listing keeps the two roles apart: the bonus applies when you sign up, and the ₹100 floor applies when you request a cash-out. Read the operator's terms for the conditions attached to both.
