Yonogams Privacy Policy explains the types of website data that may be processed during a visit, how cookies and technical logs may be used, and why visitors should review the privacy rules of external services before sharing information.

Privacy Policy Overview

Yonogams Privacy Policy is the main topic of this page. This policy applies to Yonogams.com and the pages published on this website. It covers information connected with normal website use, contact messages, technical logs, cookies and third-party links.

Yonogams is primarily an information website. It is not designed to collect gaming account passwords, OTPs, UPI PINs or payment card PINs. Do not send those details through the website.

Information You Choose to Provide

If you contact Yonogams, the message may contain information such as your name, email address, the page you are asking about and the text you choose to send. Only provide information that is necessary for the request.

If a contact form, comment feature or other interactive tool is added later, the information entered into that feature may be processed to respond to the request, prevent abuse or maintain the website.

Technical and Log Data

Web hosting, security and performance systems may process technical information needed to deliver and protect the website. This can include an IP address, browser type, device information, requested pages, referral information, timestamps and error logs.

The exact data available can depend on the hosting, security, analytics and caching services that are enabled on the website at that time.

Cookies and Similar Technologies

WordPress, security tools, analytics services or other website features may use cookies or similar storage when those features are enabled. Cookies can be used for basic site functions, security, preferences, performance measurement or analytics.

You can manage cookies through your browser settings. Blocking some cookies may affect how certain website features work.

Third-Party Websites and Downloads

Yonogams contains links to other websites and services. When you leave Yonogams, the destination website may collect information under its own privacy policy and terms. Yonogams does not control the privacy practices of an external website simply because a link appears on one of our pages.

Before creating an account, installing a file or making a payment on another service, read that service's privacy information and review the permissions it requests.

Security and Sensitive Information

Do not share OTP codes, account passwords, UPI PINs, card PINs, recovery codes or other private authentication details through Yonogams. A legitimate website correction or support request does not require those credentials.

No website can promise absolute security. Use an updated browser, protect your device, verify links before opening them and avoid entering sensitive information on pages you do not trust.

Changes to This Privacy Policy

This policy may be updated when website features, service providers or legal requirements change. The page should be reviewed after major changes to forms, analytics, advertising, cookies or other data-handling features.
