Royally Rummy Gameplay Strategies & Tips

1. Prioritize Pure Sequences First : A valid declaration requires at least one pure sequence (no jokers). Focus on forming this early – it reduces your points if an opponent declares before you.

2. Use Royal Wildcards Strategically : Kings, Queens, and Jacks act as additional wildcards. Save them for difficult sets rather than wasting them on easy combinations. Only one royal wildcard can be used per turn.

3. Watch Your Opponents' Discards : Pay attention to what cards your opponents pick and discard. This gives valuable clues about their hands and helps you avoid discarding cards they need.

4. Discard High-Value Cards Early : Face cards (10 points each) can hurt your score if you lose. Unless they're part of a sequence, discard them early.

5. Use the Practice Mode : New to rummy? Spend time in the free practice mode to learn the Royal Wildcard mechanics before playing cash games.

6. Don't Hoard Jokers : While jokers are valuable, using them to complete sets early is better than holding them for a "perfect" momen
