Installs tell part of the story: with 391K+ recorded, Roz Rummy has a sizable audience, and the Rs.51 join offer gives new players a reason to join. The listing also records a 4.3-star rating and a v3.2.2 build with a Mar 2026 refresh stamp.

Roz Rummy's Rs.51 welcome credit

The welcome credit is a flat Rs.51, credited at sign-up so new accounts can open a table immediately. The entry has no deposit-match scheme, and the bonus reads as a straightforward try-it-out offer rather than a headline promotion. At 53 MB, the APK is a substantial download, so players on limited data plans should connect to Wi-Fi before installing.

Ways to pay and the ₹100 floor

Withdrawals begin at ₹100, and the app lists UPI and Bank transfer as its payment channels. The two routes cover both ends of the fund flow: UPI for quick, everyday movements, and Bank transfer for players who prefer their bank account as the final stop. Cards and wallets do not appear on the listing.

Before installing

- Check that the 18+ age gate applies to you.
- Plan for a 53 MB download over a stable connection.
- Remember the ₹100 withdrawal floor from the first deposit.

Between the Mar 2026 refresh, the 4.3-star rating, and the straightforward payment pair, the profile summarises easily: Rs.51 in, ₹100 out, UPI or Bank transfer in between.

Roz Rummy lists Rs.51 as its join offer. The amount is shown in a welcome or promo context on the card, and no wagering or credit conditions are recorded next to it. The operator's destination is where to confirm how the Rs.51 is actually applied.

The Roz Rummy card records ₹100 as its minimum withdrawal. A payout request is only sensible once the balance crosses that ₹100 floor. Withdrawal timings and any charges are not stated on the card and need checking with the operator.

Roz Rummy names UPI and Bank transfer. The listing uses the exact label Bank transfer, so it must not be read as Net Banking. No other method is printed on the card, so alternatives need confirming with the operator first.

Roz Rummy shows a 53 MB APK at version v3.2.2, refreshed in Mar 2026. The download link on the listing opens an Android store page rather than a direct file, so installation runs through the standard store flow on the device.
