Curious what the Rummy Guru card actually records? The listing sets it down as a Rummy Bonus Picks entry with a 4.5-star rating, and everything else follows that pattern of plain facts. The welcome side of the offer is a Rs.41 join credit, which lands in your account when you join. The withdrawal side sits at ₹85, meaning that is the smallest amount you can take out once your winnings clear. Before you touch either number, remember the card lists no balance-transfer route other than UPI and Bank transfer, so money movement happens through those two channels only.

On the technical side, the file is a 48 MB APK at version v4.3.2, last refreshed in Mar 2026, and the install counter shows 10K installs at the time of writing. The app is intended for players aged 18 or above, which the listing states plainly. No other age-related detail appears on the card, and no extra payment names are mentioned beyond the two already noted. A lower install figure than some cards simply means fewer reported installs so far; the listing treats it as a neutral fact, the same way it treats the rating and the version stamp.

If you are weighing the offer, read the pair of figures together rather than separately: the Rs.41 join credit is a promotion, while the ₹85 minimum payout is the floor you measure against after you start playing. A small install count does not change the numbers printed here, and the rating does not change the version stamp either. The card simply reports what it reports, with the bonus amount, the cash-out threshold, the install size, the build version, the refresh month, the payment channels, and the age limit each kept in its own place.

That is the full record, nothing more and nothing less. This page only reports the listing's facts; the final choice stays with you. Read more in Blog , Privacy , Terms .

The Rummy Guru listing names a Rs.41 join offer for new players. It appears in sign-up context only: the page attaches the amount to creating a new account, not to deposits, referrals, or any other action. The directory records the figure as the welcome offer, and the same entry shows a ₹85 minimum withdrawal on the payout side.

The Rummy Guru page lists two payment methods: UPI and Bank transfer. Those names appear exactly as written here, and the directory mentions no additional channels for the app, so the record covers just these two options. For context, the same entry sets the cash-out floor at ₹85.

The directory records 10K installs for Rummy Guru and a 4.5 rating. The install figure is the count shown on the listing; it is not a store-provided number since the app is distributed through a direct APK link. The same entry lists a 48 MB build at version v4.3.2, refreshed in Mar 2026.

Yes—the listing links a direct APK for Android rather than a store page. It is a 48 MB file at version v4.3.2, last refreshed in Mar 2026. Because the file comes from outside an app store, the device must allow installs from unknown sources, and the APK should be verified at the operator's destination before installation.
