Latest Promo Code

Five rummy platforms have a working promo code as of June 2026 . All five are first-deposit codes, all five were verified this month, and you can claim every one of them — once each, on separate accounts per platform.

A quick read of that table tells you the headline rankings: A23's ₹10,000 ceiling is the biggest number, Junglee's 250% is the richest match rate, and Rummy 365's ₹500 looks smallest. The headline order is almost exactly backwards from the real value order — more on that below.

Each code has its own deep-dive page if you've already picked a platform: Junglee Rummy promo code , RummyCircle promo code , A23 Rummy promo code and RummyBaazi promo code .

How Rummy Promo Codes Work

If you're new to cash rummy, three things about promo codes will save you confusion later.

Codes apply at the deposit step, not signup. Every app in the table puts its code field on the Add Cash screen. You choose an amount, enter the code, see a bonus preview, then pay. There is no way to apply a code after the deposit has gone through — apps treat the code as part of the payment transaction.

The bonus arrives locked. No app hands you withdrawable cash for typing a code. The bonus sits in a separate "bonus balance" and converts to real cash in slices as you play cash games. The conversion mechanic is called the release rate , and it is the single most important number in any promo offer:

- Rummy 365 releases at roughly 10% per wagering instalment — the fastest mainstream rate we've measured
- RummyCircle releases in larger tranches tied to wagering milestones
- Junglee Rummy and A23 drip at around 2% per instalment, which is why their ceilings can afford to be ₹5,250 and ₹10,000

Every bonus expires. Validity windows run 30–90 days depending on the app. Unreleased bonus simply vanishes at expiry. A ₹10,000 bonus you release 8% of is worth ₹800, not ₹10,000.

This is why our honest ranking inverts the headline one. A casual player — a few hours a week — will extract more rupees from Rummy 365's modest-looking ₹500-plus-welcome-bonus package than from A23's five-figure ceiling, because the release maths actually completes before expiry. Our best rummy bonuses comparison runs the full numbers for different play volumes.

A worked example makes the gap concrete. Say you deposit ₹2,000 and play around six hours a week:

- On Junglee with JRWELCOME, you'd hold a ₹5,000 bonus releasing at 2% instalments. At that volume you might unlock ₹600–₹900 before the 60-day window closes. Real value: under ₹1,000.
- On RummyCircle with RC2000, you'd hold a ₹2,000 bonus releasing in larger wagering-linked tranches. The same volume plausibly clears most or all of it. Real value: ₹1,500–₹2,000.
- On Rummy 365 with RB365MAX, you'd get the flat ₹500 plus the standard welcome bonus releasing at ~10% — the smallest headline, the highest completion percentage, and the fastest withdrawals (instant to 30 minutes) once it's cash.

Which code "wins" therefore depends on who you are:

There's no universally "best" rummy promo code — only the best one for your volume. Picking by headline number alone is the single most common mistake new depositors make.

Terms That Actually Matter

Beyond release rates, the terms shared by all five codes:

First deposit only, one account per person. Apps match accounts by PAN, device and payment instrument. Opening a second account to re-claim a code gets both accounts frozen — usually with the balance inside.

Minimum deposits apply. RB365MAX needs ₹1,000+ to trigger its ₹500. The match codes (RC2000, RBWELCOME, JRWELCOME) work from around ₹100 but only hit their ceilings at larger deposits — ₹2,000 for RummyCircle, ₹2,100 for Junglee's 250% maths.

Cash games release bonuses; tournaments mostly don't. All five platforms count rake from points/pool/deals cash tables toward release. Tournament buy-ins typically count partially or not at all.

Restricted states are excluded. Players in states that prohibit real-money rummy can't deposit at all, with or without a code. Check our guide on whether rummy is legal in India for the current state list.

And the boring-but-true bit: a promo code is a discount on entertainment, not income. Size your deposit to what you'd happily spend, code or no code — see our responsible gaming page.

If the Code Doesn't Work

Codes fail for predictable reasons. Run this checklist before assuming the offer is dead:

- Already deposited? First-deposit codes reject any account with deposit history — even a ₹10 test deposit months ago. Check the app's promotions tab for reload codes instead.
- Typo or autocorrect. All five codes are uppercase, no spaces. Phone keyboards love inserting a trailing space that invalidates the field.
- Below the minimum. RB365MAX silently does nothing under ₹1,000.
- The code rotated. Apps refresh campaign codes; when one dies we update this page within days. The deposit screen's offers carousel always shows what's live for your account.
- KYC pending. A23 and RummyCircle sometimes hold bonus crediting until basic KYC clears.

If everything checks out and the field still rejects the code, the app's default welcome offer applies automatically with no code at all — you lose the upgrade, not the whole bonus.

One source of failure deserves its own warning: fake codes from third-party channels . Telegram groups, YouTube comment sections and copy-paste coupon sites circulate invented codes ("RUMMY5000", "FREECASH999") that have never existed on any deposit screen. At best they waste your time; at worst the links beside them lead to clone APKs that imitate real apps and steal deposits. The only codes that exist are the ones an app's own deposit screen accepts — and the five above are the ones that do this month.

Alternatives Worth Comparing

If none of these five fits, two adjacent routes are worth knowing.

No-deposit signup credits. Several apps hand out free cash just for registering — Rummy 365 gives ₹50, others give ₹25–₹51 — no code, no deposit. They're small but genuinely free; see rummy free bonus for the current list.

Referral codes. If a friend already plays, their referral code often beats the public promo on smaller deposits — Rummy 365 pays ₹150 per referred friend, A23 ₹100 plus deposit bonuses. Our rummy referral code guide compares programmes.

And remember the codes above don't have to be an either/or decision. Because each is platform-locked, a methodical player can claim all five over a few months: start where the release maths suits your volume, finish that bonus, then move to the next platform with a fresh first deposit. Just keep it to one account per app — claiming five codes across five apps is fine; claiming one code twice on one app is how accounts get frozen.

Our overall pick remains Rummy 365 : the RB365MAX top-up plus a welcome bonus up to ₹3,000 at a 10% release rate, instant-to-30-minute UPI withdrawals, and a 4.8 rating in our testing. How to Use the Code

First-deposit codes work exactly once per platform, so compare the table below before committing. Headline size and real value are not the same thing.

Sign up with your mobile number and verify the OTP. Promo codes are never entered at registration — they live on the deposit screen.

Choose a deposit amount, find the promo code or coupon field, type the code and apply. The screen previews the bonus before you pay.

Complete payment. The deposit credits instantly; the bonus lands in a locked balance that unlocks as you play.

Every app converts locked bonus to withdrawable cash through wagering. Release rates range from 2% instalments (Junglee) to 10% (Rummy 365).

For most players, RB365MAX on Rummy 365 — a flat ₹500 on top of the welcome bonus, with a 10% release rate that makes it the easiest to actually cash out. If you grind serious volume, JRWELCOME's ₹5,250 ceiling on Junglee Rummy pays more in absolute terms.

Yes — across different apps. Each code here belongs to a different platform, so you can claim all five with five separate first deposits. Within a single app, first-deposit codes work once only.

Promo bonuses always land in a locked bonus balance first and convert to real cash as you play. That's standard across every rummy app, not a scam — but check the release rate before depositing big.

The five codes on this page are first-deposit codes for new accounts. Existing users get reload and cashback codes through each app's promotions tab, email and SMS instead.

Yes — we re-test every code on this page with a real deposit each month. Last full verification: 8 June 2026. If you only want today's status, see our rummy promo code today tracker.
