How low do Rummy Time payouts go?

A welcome bonus sets the tone for most rummy installs, and Rummy Time pairs its Rs.71 join credit with a ₹100 minimum payout. The card runs a 4.5 rating across 215K+ installs, ships as a 39 MB package at v2.14.8, and was last refreshed in Dec 2025. An 18+ rule applies at registration, and the named payment lanes are UPI and Paytm. The 215K+ install count is the adoption figure the listing uses, and the 39 MB package keeps the download modest.

On the sign-up side, the Rs.71 credit is collected when the account opens, making it the figure to check before registering. On the cash-out side, the ₹100 minimum withdrawal is the threshold a balance must cross for a payout request to proceed. Money then moves through UPI or Paytm—the two channels the listing names—with no others mentioned on the card. The version string v2.14.8 and the Dec 2025 refresh date round out the technical half of the listing. The 4.5 rating is the only quality signal the card carries, and the 18+ gate is the sole eligibility condition named.

To read the card correctly, keep the two money figures in their own lanes: Rs.71 is the join credit, and ₹100 is the payout floor. Everything in the list above is stated exactly as the listing publishes it, so a quick scan of the bullets covers the rest of the card without further digging. A player who reads the card top to bottom gets the full picture in one pass: a Rs.71 welcome credit at registration, a ₹100 floor at the cashier, and UPI or Paytm as the channels in between.

The Rummy Time listing records a Rs.71 join offer in the bonus context of the profile. It is listed separately from the ₹100 minimum withdrawal. The directory states the amount as given; playthrough requirements, expiry, and other conditions of the Rs.71 offer are set by the operator.

The Rummy Time profile names UPI and Paytm as its payment methods, and those two are the complete set on the listing. No other channels appear. Players should confirm at the operator's destination which UPI apps and Paytm-linked banks are actually supported for deposits and cash-outs.

The minimum withdrawal shown on the Rummy Time listing is ₹100. The profile records this as the cash-out floor but gives no information about processing speed or payout frequency, so the operator's cash-out policy on the destination page is where to check the practical details.

The Rummy Time listing records a 39 MB APK at version v2.14.8, with the refresh noted as Dec 2025. The link is a direct Android APK, meaning installation happens outside the Play Store and usually requires permission to install from unknown sources.
